April 14th Meeting: Attended by Charloa Burkner, Ed Barr, Mike & Alice Ogden, Lee Wilcox, and Cameron, the co-pilot of an unusual airplane. Talk to Lee for the details about this beautiful pusher airplane w/ a couple of wings. Alice won the second jump. Most of us went to Mt. Mike's for food & beverages.

E-mails: Hopefully no one cares if I share emails, when space is available. If you do care, tell me:

Uncle Zip writes: Hi Folks, #For the past fifteen months I have been busier than a one-armed paper hanger. Big series of construction projects out here and I have had to deal with dolts, incompetents, liars and crooks. #Result? #Haven't handled routine tasks with even my usual and typical sloth. #One item, records. #Can't find four months of back bank statements. Ergo, I am now wondering IF I have paid my Cal Club dues for 2007. Can you ping me back if I have not? #And are they still fifteen bucks? #Incidentally, I hit my eightieth birthday in January. And while these old bones are even more brittle, damned IF I was anywhere near a DZ if I wouldn't have tried to make a jump. #The new chutes set you down so easy that even sissies can take up the sport! #Why do I still belong to a parachute club? #Well, apart from keeping track of a bunch of you young punks...(I am still amazed that more of you aren't in jail)....I have a goal. #I intend to be the oldest member of the California Parachute Club. #And will IF I can outlive Al Silvers. #It is not a commonly known fact but I am actually one of his love children...but he gets pissed off if he is reminded of it by anyone. #Support Mental Health or I will Kill You. #Uncle Zip (editors note: # equals new paragraph)

Condolences: Our deepest sympathies to Charloa Burkner as she recently lost her father.
